From the Operating Committee

It has been a progressive few months for the ILBF. The past 6 months has seen a total of 208 boxes of books being sent to 9 recipients across 4 countries. Recipients include educational and legal practice institutions across Malawi, Uganda, Pakistan and Sierra Leone.

The ILBF have received an overwhelming amount of book donations this year and continue to be grateful for these and to those who provide us with the storage space. Without this support we would be unable to reach so many worthwhile recipients.

Our Trustees work hard to ensure relationships are formed with other legal institutions, allowing us to successfully promote the ILBF. We are particularly grateful for the prosperous relationship formed with the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies who have encouraged applications from many of our most recent recipients in Uganda.

The ILBF is appreciative of the strong volunteer base we have formed, particularly to Universities advertising the opportunity to volunteer with the ILBF to their students. We would also like to say a big thank you to the volunteer administration and shipping assistants for their hard work over the past year. We will be recruiting for 2014/2015 assistants shortly.

Finally, we would like to encourage organisations, or those who may know of organisations who could benefit from books provided by the ILBF, to submit an application through our website: www.ilbf.org.uk

Myanmar Rule of Law Committee

At the end of last year the ILBF was delighted to donate 1,200 books to establish a library for Daw Aung San Suu Kyi's Rule of Law Committee in Myanmar.

The books will be used by members of the Committee, and will be accessible to all Members of Parliament, the Parliament's secretariat and independent legal advisers assisting the Parliamentary Committees.

The ILBF is looking forward to making further donations of books to legal and educational organisations in Myanmar.

"The Parliamentary Rule of Law Committee has received over 1,200 books from the International Law Book Facility to establish a new library. These invaluable legal resources will be available for our committee members to use during the next parliamentary session."

Like to receive books?

The ILBF welcomes applications for legal texts from legal professional bodies, law schools, universities and other institutions and individuals (but not profit-making law practices) in Africa, Asia, Europe, South America and the Caribbean. If you or your organisation wish to be considered as a future recipient of books, please complete the online application form which can be found on our website: www.ilbf.org.uk

Like to donate?

The ILBF is focused on identifying the core legal texts that will make an impact. Our books may be second hand, but they're never second best! If you or your organisation have a book in good condition that you think will be useful to recipients, please go to the ILBF website and check the ILBF booklist to see if it is one of our preferred titles. You can also download a contents list form and a printed address label to make donating books even easier. Please help us to reduce our costs and save volunteers' time by sending only those books on the book list.

Like to volunteer?

The ILBF runs at a low cost because it is run entirely by volunteers. If you or your organisation would like to volunteer for the ILBF by funding a shipment or helping with the shipping and distribution of books, then we'd love to hear from you! Please contact us by emailing info@ilbf.org.uk
